

I just got home and opened the box of materials.

Today was wonderful, you might tell Bill. I've taken courses in years past with John Schaub and Jack Miller and haven't felt so inspired since those sessions. Maybe the group I'm going to put together from some of those in attendance today can introduce and "lock in" the techniques Bill taught. He really opened my eyes to what is possible in today's economic and regulatory environment.

Again, thanks for your insightful responses to my many questions.
